What makes love unconditional?

The definition of unconditional is without restrictions or limits - unquestioning. How can you be certain of unconditional love and where can you find it? There is one true source of this kind of love and it's God. If we want to learn to love others unconditionally, we must look to God who is the perfect source. The following are some examples of God's great love.

God's love never runs out.

God's love is infinite. There will never be a day when God doesn't love you. You can't do or say anything to revoke God's love: that's the gospel in a nutshell. But by working on our relationship with God, reaching out to Him, and trusting Him for everything we can begin to know an unconditional love we have not known (or will ever know again).

God's love is sacrificial.

God's love is so far-reaching that He sacrificed His own Son to pay the penalty for our sin and bridge the gap between sinners and a holy God. God has already made the ultimate sacrifice for us. If we want to love this way, we need to make sacrifices, too. Sometimes it means we must sacrifice our comfort, time, or other resources to love others the way God loves us.

God's love can not be earned.

Ephesians 2:8-9 says, "For it is by grace you have been saved, through faith and this is not from yourselves, it is the gift of God—not by works, so that no one can boast." This is an extraordinary concept to consider. Jesus' death on the cross already paid for our salvation. By taking on the penalty for sin, He made it possible for God to offer His unconditional love to us.

God's love is something you can never lose.

Nothing can separate you from the love of God, no matter how badly you believe you have messed up your life. With a heart of repentance, you can always come back to the Father. He will greet you with a kiss and invite you to a party thrown in your honor Luke 15:31-32.

Will you choose to love people God's way?

Unconditional love might be a foreign concept to you, but it doesn't have to be. When we love, forgive, and see others with new eyes because we have let Jesus meet our needs for love and intimacy, we are set free. That's the power Jesus' death afforded us.
